How Many Altogether?

Count, Cover, and Tell

Count the pictures. Cover them. Tell how many altogether.

Write the number or draw dots in the circle.

Parent/Teacher Note: Have your child touch each picture while counting aloud. Then have them cover the pictures with a hand or a small piece of paper and say how many altogether. Children who are comfortable writing numerals may write the total in the circle. Children who are not writing numbers yet may draw one dot for each object instead.
